Greg:

There's simply no way to thank you enough for the terrific job you did at our annual convention. You immediately engaged our business session crowd with your laugh-out-loud tales of personal experiences in business and sales.

Even better as our final-night entertainer, your stories and humor had folk in tears they were laughing so hard. Honestly, I've been doing this 25 years and don't remember any evening where people came up to say they loved a performance as often as they did after yours. It's been my privilege to watch and work with some true professionals and without doubt you rank among the very best.

I appreciated, too, the fact you made a point to be easy to work with in preparation, came to our group early, observed, met folk and connected with the audience.

I look forward to asking you back in the future and have no doubt my members will be excited when I announce your return.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can ever be of assistance.

Best wishes,
