To Whom it May Concern,

If you are looking for someone who can entertain and EMCEE and make people laugh till they cry, Greg Warren is your guy.

In June of this year, Greg emceed and was the key note speaker for our annual state conference where he entertained a room full of financial planners and insurance producers from all over the state. We received all positive comments about his performance, specifically including an appreciation for his “clean” humor and professionalism.

From the beginning of the contract phase to his arrival and performance and beyond, Greg was flexible and easy to work with. He stayed with us throughout the day and in addition to his stand up presentation, he provided creative and entertaining transitions between each of the industry presentations. He is non-judgmental regarding his audience members and his comic material appeals to all ages and types. We are so grateful that he was willing to take a chance on us!

I would highly recommend Greg to anyone, corporate or otherwise, who is looking for a comedian with rock-solid material, impeccable timing, a great off-stage personality and just an all-around, down to earth good guy.

Sincerely,

Joan Smith
