To: Greg Warren

As we are all navigating these challenging times during the health pandemic, many firms have gone to offering Conferences and Training opportunities virtually. We all need to add some humor to our lives during these times, so during our annual Conference in October we had comedian Greg Warren as our entertainment during the lunch period. As with everything this year, we were not sure how this presentation be received virtually.....Greg hit it "out of the park"! Our group was laughing and really enjoying themselves. We received rave reviews and many thank yous for brightening up the day. We cannot wait to book Greg in the future when he can actually be in front of our group and "feeding" off all the laughter.

Sincerely,

Erin Worden, Collective Financial Group
Director Communications & Special Projects
