To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing a letter of recommendation on behalf of Greg Warren.

Annually, my team organizes several events and experiences internally for our team members and externally for our clients. With the COVID environment, we were struggling to create some unique events that were memorable, engaging, and fun. We decided to test a couple of virtual comedy events.

Greg was fantastic to collaborate with. He took the time to debrief with our team, troubleshoot/test the technology, and provide recommendations on best practices so the experience would go smoothly for all those participating.

The overall feedback we received was a home run. Humor is one of the lost arts in event planning today and Greg nailed it. Personally, I was surprised how dynamic Greg's performance was. His material was relatable, I wasn't concerned about the content, and I felt very comfortable with my difference audiences experiencing Greg's act.

If you are researching a comedian, I would absolutely encourage you to reach out to Greg. Our experience with Greg was an A+. Greg would do well virtually or in person for your private event.
