

We were super excited to have Greg Warren close out our National Training Meeting in Las Vegas. After a full 3.5 days of training and meetings, our group of 300+ sales managers were ready to head home. Greg was engaging and dynamic right out of the box! As a former sales executive, he was able to put humor into the lives of the audience that 'pounds the pavement' all day long with his insights and examples. This was a wonderful 'close' to the event, and I received dozens of 'thank yous' and appreciation statements as we closed with a standing ovation!

I would highly recommend Greg to work any corporate function. His ability to find humor in every day business and professional settings had me laughing until I cried!
